THE NEW RANGE excels anything of the kind ever offered for sale. It requires much less space than ordinary cooking stoves, and is more economical. It will heat as much water as a range set in masonry.
The HOT CLOSET retains the heat usually radiated from the bottom, which is, during the summer months WORSE THAN WASTED, thereby not only SAVING FUEL, but making the KITCHEN MORE COMFORTABLE besides furnishing an admirable place for warming and keeping food warm, warming plates, &c. The door can be removed during cold weather to allow the heat to escape into the kitchen.
Coals are separated from the ashes in the SIFTING CHAMBER.

NEW 7-30, 6 PER CENT. GOLD 1st MORTGAGE BONDS
Issue Only $18,500 per Mile.
THE ROAD NOW EARNING NET, NEARLY DOUBLE ITS ENTIRE INTEREST OBLIGATIONS.
THE LEADING POINTS IN RELATION TO THESE BONDS ARE AS FOLLOWS:
The Stockholders have built a first class road and equipped it in a first class manner, mainly with their own money.
They have built their road through one of the richest portions of the State, where all the old roads into Chicago are earning over $10,000 per mile per annum, and are paying large and regular dividends.
They have built the shortest road to the celebrated Block Coal Mines, whose products have large and increasing market in Chicago, in the manufacture of iron, as well as for domestic uses.
The road is already earning so large an excess of its interest liability that its Bonds are said beyond contingency.
The amount of the mortgage is very moderate, being only about $18,500 per mile.
While Railroad Bonds may be plenty, to use upon profitable lines, and for no small an amount are seldom in the market.
Over $1,200,000 of these Bonds have been sold in a few weeks to Trust Companies, Savings' Banks, trustees of estates, and the most careful private investors, and but a small amount remains, for which early application should be made.
That as only a small amount remains unsold, parties who want them should make immediate application.
The Bonds are for $1,000 each, have forty years to run, and bear interest at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum, payable on the first of April and October, both principal and interest being payable in gold in New York.
Price .90 and Accrued Interest.
We do not hesitate to recommend these Bonds as unusually safe. They are attended with none of the uncertainties of projected enterprises, and the prompt payment of the interest, and the final payment of the principal, are as certain as any future financial event can well be.

The Cider Law

The Commercial, with a great deal of display propounds to us the following queries

Is the Whig in favor of Gov Perham's CIDER LAW

DARE the WHIG give an opinion of Governor Perham's CIDER LAW

As we are not in the habit of dodging as the Commercial has dodged every question we have pressed upon it, from the matter of circulation to the loyalty of its editor and Congressional candidate down to the excuse demanded for its recent bold vilification of the finances, we shall accommodate our querist with a very prompt and emphatic answer, so far as we can reply to questions which embody a wilful falsehood

1st—The cider law is not Governor Perham's law He never asked for it, had nothing to do with its passage and would not have approved it had it stood by itself instead of being incorporated with other provisions which he did not feel justified in vetoing If proof of the Governor's position is required, the statements of his first message that there will "law enough" and the reiteration of this opinion in his second address to the Legislature, are ample and explicit. Here are its words —

"The law itself believed to be generally satisfactory, but there is much complaint that, in many parts of the State, it is not executed as it should be, and by many, additional legislation for the enforcement of this and other enumerations is desired The conviction is very general that the necessity is not so much for NEW LAW, as a better enforcement of the laws we have The importance of a faithful and impartial execution of all our criminal laws is too apparent to require discussion here"

2d—The cider law is not essentially a Republican measure. It was notoriously pressed upon the Legislature by Democratic influence, for a purpose now very apparent, and more than this it was carried and voted for by a large number of prominent Democratic members, including such men as Capt. C. Deering of Cape Elizabeth, G W Clark of New Vineyard, Jonathan White of Rockland, Andrew D Griffin of Stockton and others, while A. G. Lebroke, who is now stumping for Kimball, was one of its most importunate and noisy champions.

3d—We do not favor and have never approved of the so-called "cider law" We believe that there are comparatively few Republicans who regard it as a wise or expedient measure and the insecurity of permitting the manufacture while prohibiting the retail, has been apparent to all save its immediate advocates.

4th—That the sale of cider may be attended with some evil results we deem quite probable, and we have the testimony of Osgood, the reformed inebriate to that effect. But we believe with Governor Perham, that there is enough to do to suppress the devastating traffic in those deadly compounds about whose effects there is no difference of opinion among intelligent people.

5th. We denounce the outcry of the Commercial and its partisans with reference to this "cider law" as a contemptible sham. It is simply fighting its old battle in behalf of the low dens of drunkenness whence Greeley dog eared its voters are obtained, by raising a cry which it thinks may rally a few respectable but thoughtless people to co-operate with its disreputable chew. The clamor against the "cider law" notably does not come from those who have been accustomed to use so mild a beverage, and it would undoubtedly be safe to wager that of all the thirsty crowd are and the Commercial office who combine to send up this cry through its columns against the 'cider law," not one of them could recognize cider by the taste if tested with a bandage over their eyes.

6th Our opponents may as well recognize the fact that the people understand the exact significance of this election. We are fighting our Presidential battle for Maine! Kimball votes mean aid for Greeley; Perham votes mean the most telling support it is possible to give to Grant. Vermont has just challenged us to emulate a magnificent example and neither 'cider laws' nor other Democratic pretexts will prevent the people of Maine from answering the roll-call of the Union on Monday next with just such a Republican majority as will place President Grant's election beyond the shadow of a doubt

Revise the Check-Lists

Every citizen is reminded that the Board of Aldermen will be in session at their room in City Hall, on Thursday Friday and Saturday, to attend to the revising of the voting lists It is of the utmost importance that every Republican ascertain that his name is properly entered, and also to see that those of his neighbors are all right Especial attention should be paid to have the names of all young Republicans who have recently become voters, properly entered on the rolls—And now is the time to have all fraudulent or improper entries expunged or corrected

See that your own name is on the voting list

Rejected Hat.

The following letter, sent by a prominent Democratic politician of this city to a gentleman in Lowell, shows how the free rum bait is dangled before the eyes of Democrats to secure votes for Kimball The experiment failed in this instance as the citizen addressed, although hitherto a Democrat has become entirely disgusted with the tactics employed, and the writer of this dignified epistle may rest assured that he has spoiled one Democratic vote Our friends in Lowell seeing the character of the opposition, will take care that their worthy candidate, Alexander Wilkin, Esq, is elected, by a handsome majority We give a copy of this campaign document —

BANGOR, Sept. 2, 1872

FRIEND — As the day of election is near at hand and I felt in common with all Liberal men the necessity of redeeming this State from the rule of those who go into private houses with REVOLVERS in their pockets to search for liquor as the police have done here, and as any CONSTABLE or SHERIFF has the power to do under the present tyranical law—and as this can only be done by ELECTING KIMBALL FOR GOVERNOR and a DEMOCRATIC LEGISLATURE I think I would write you especially as I felt about as well acquainted with you as any one in your place I recall of the conversation we had in my office, and therefore felt at liberty to write you and ask as a favor of one and all liberal men to use what pains you can, and give us what time you can to the good cause —ESPECIALLY to aid us by all fair means to elect a LIBERAL DEMOCRAT OR REPUBLICAN to the Legislature from your District Near Woodman [illegible] candidate is to be nominated and I hope next Monday you will elect him, and at the same time show that you don't need to come to Bangor to support a man I should like to hear from you Reply

D SANBORN

See that the names of your Republican neighbors are upon the voting list

Hon Henry A Rice who has been well known for years as an influential Democrat of Minnesota, and who was one of the first two Senators of that State in the Congress of the United States, refuses to support Greeley and has declared for Grant He takes this stand not as a politician, but as a business man

The convention of colored men of New England to be held in Faneuil Hall, Boston, on Thursday (to day) will probably give an expression of opinion which will show what the intelligent men among the emancipated race think of President Grant. It will then be realized, we suspect, that the colored people are thinking for themselves, and are intelligent observers of public events, and especially where the interests of their own class are concerned

Popular Figures

It is shown by the monthly debt statement that the reduction of the public debt in August, was about ten millions and three quarters, ($10,735,636.) This is greater, by some twenty-five per cent, than the average, and brings the total reduction, for three years and a half, up to $348,141,299, or about $100,000,000 a year It is very easy to see that no such payments could be, while taxes were being enormously reduced, without the greatest possible fidelity in the collection and disbursement of the revenues It is not merely the payment of three hundred and fifty millions of the public debt, it is the payment of this amount, together with the ABATEMENT OF TWO HUNDRED AND SEVENTY NINE MILLIONS OF TAXATION, that we cite as incontestable proof of the financial soundness of Gen Grant's Administration.

MAINE POLITICS.

The Democrats of Belgrade nominated Geo. N Ward as candidate for Representative to the Legislature.

The following have been nominated by the Republicans as candidate for Representative to the Legislature from class towns in Piscataquis County Dover etc, D W Brockway, Atkinson etc, C. J. Ford, Guilford etc, C G Robbins

The Democrats have nominated as candidate for Representative to the Legislature from the classed owns of Limington and Lyman, Gardner R. Norton, from Cornish and Parsonsfield, John Bennett, Buckfield, A. F Cole, Canton, J. O Hodge.

The Republicans of Hancock County have made the following nominations Senators, Wm E Hadlock of Cranberry Isle, and Avery Whitmore of Deer Isle, County Commissioner, Jas. W Blaisdell of Dedham.

The Republicans of Vassalboro' have nominated George Gifford, esq, formerly editor of the Portland Press, as candidate for Representative to Legislature. The Republicans of the class towns of Fayette, Winthrop and Wayne have nominated J H Stanyan, esq., of Fayette.

Among other Republican nominations for Representatives to Legislature are the following Cumberland, Charles E. Herrick, Windham, Richard Mayberry; Buxton and Hollis, A. K. P. Lord Hyman and Lemuel Staples, Nathaniel Libbey, Saco, Leroy Lord; Biddeford and Parsonsfield, John Devereux; Buckfield, G. D Bisbee, Hartford, Moses Alley.

LIEUT-GOVERNOR PINCHBECK, of Louisiana, a colored gentleman of great ability, will address the citizens of Carmel this (Thursday) evening, and will speak at Springfield, Saturday afternoon, Sept. 7 Mr. Pinchbeck is an eloquent orator and thoroughly informed upon the political questions of the day. Capt. F E Ames and wife of this city, who were fellow passengers with Lt. Governor Pinchbeck from New Orleans, speak in the warmest terms of his refinement, culture and ability, and his auditors may expect entertaining and instructive addresses.

A PERTINENT QUESTION The Lowell (Mass) Journal, edited by a soldier, makes free to inquire "Would it be out of place in these days of 'reconciliation' to ask a little amnesty of our Democratic friends for the soldiers who happen to continue to have a some confidence left in Grant? At present such men are stigmatized as 'bread and butter heroes,' and while the rebels are beckoned to the side of the bloody chasm for a cordial grip of the hand in oblivion of past offences, the Grant soldier are warned out of the political contest as intruders"

PENNSYLVANIANS LEAVING GREELEY The Pittsburg (Penn) Mail, of Saturday, says "The withdrawal of Hon John S McAlmont from the Greeley party, and his declaration for Grant and the whole Republican ticket, has created quite an excitement in the Liberal Camp in Venango. It is reported that Gen Alf H McCalmont, brother of the Judge, is not so pronounced in his Democracy as to be prepared to swallow Judge Black's view, that the issue of this campaign at Greeley is elected, is to be the beginning of the gradual extinction of the Constitutional Amendments. Gen. McCalmont don't feel that another war to reinstate slavery is advisable"

"As to the administration of Gen Grant, I recognize no one as a Republican who is not grateful for its judicious energetic and successful efforts"—HORACE GREELEY

THE DORE DOOLITTLE Ex-Senator Doolittle's friends, in Washington, do not think he has fully explained in a satisfactory manner his connection with the Conasty cotton permit business, and the opinion even at Liberal headquarters is that he had better not attempted a defence unless he had the means at hand to make a more successful one than he did

THE DEMOCRATIC TRIBUNE The Boston Transcript explains the glee which the Tribune shows in the support of the Democratic cause 'Whitelaw Reid, the present manager of the New York Tribune since that sheet, which is not an organ, was suddenly by a cruel dispensation deprived of the services of its founder, was a Buchanan-and-McClellan Democrat and an apologist of Andrew Johnson"

Every Republican should so arrange his business that he can give Election day to his Country.

The Hillsboro (N. C.) Recorder, a Greeley organ, has got tired of the New York Tribune correspondent's clatter about Republican frauds in the North Carolina election. It says —

"And they want to contest Caldwell's election Well, it is all bosh again. Caldwell is certainly elected, and that we had certainly better make our minds up to, right off. The people have been fooled sufficient. Noddie headed old jackies, and linen duster and chewing tobacco, and pipe smoking corner loafers and street talking politicians have been guided our men in the corn field and the working-shops long enough And we tell these people now that Caldwell will surely take his seat, And we tell them that as to frauds we have known of no fraud committed, and if they were, we would as soon expect them on the one side as on the other."

WHAT AN EX REBEL SAYS. In a letter to the Plattsburg Sentinel a commercial traveller describes somewhat of the enthusiasm for Grant he has witnessed in the towns on the Erie, from New York to Meadville. One incident we quote —"Sitting directly in my front was an ex rebel from Texas, journeying homeward Owing to an incident in taking the vote, we became engaged in a dispute over the 'bloody chasm' He was for Horace and I was for Ulysses Each of us opened with a few tilts and banters when he, quite heated said, 'I do not surrender up one atom of the principles I held in 1861 I believe them to be right, fought for them and would do so again, were the opportunity offered with abundance of them success. I lost $30 000 in negro property, which the Constitution of the United States said I had a right to once This Government has yet got to pay me this loss' At this, some Liberal Republicans squirmed in their seats and vainly endeavored, by certain sly winks and frowns to choke him off"

The people of the United States know Gen Grant—have known all about him since Donelson and Vicksburg, they do not know his slanderers, and do not care to know them —HORACE GREELEY

POLITICAL AND PERSONAL

Good news for Gratz Brown! says the Toledo Blade, they are making whiskey of muskmelons in Missouri.

There are now over sixty Grant clubs in Massachusetts—more by nearly one half than the Wide Awakes had in 1860

Anna Dickinson will not speak in the Greeley interest this season We thought so, says the Toledo Blade Annie has an exceedingly level feminine head, and she knows the Chappaquack

At New Albany, Ind, Carl Schurz was "overwhelmed and discouraged," and according to the Louisville Commercial, told some friends that there was no hope for Greeley.

At Smyrna, Ohio, dispatch says "John Blair and Billy Ring on bail for grand larceny, escaped last night by making a hole in one of the cells by the aid of a drill and crowbar furnished them. They left a note stating that they intended to vote for Greeley. Nothing has yet been heard of them"

Hon Henry A. Reeves, late Democratic member of Congress from the First District of New York, declines being considered a candidate for Congress, if, by becoming so, he is expected in any degree to debate, modify, or conceal his opposition for Horace Greeley for President"

On the train between Concord and Nashua on Saturday last, a vote was taken with the following result: 211 for Grant, 72 for Greeley, 25 no choice. Ladies in the car were all for Grant.

The Detroit Post propounds the conundrum "If the Greeley party could gain nothing in North Carolina and West Virginia, but instead of gaining lost from sixteen to eighteen thousand votes, where can it gain anything?"

Robert Toombs, says the Albany Journal calls the Ku-Klux "the noblest band of patriots seen on earth since the day that Leonidas and his three hundred Spartans died at Thermopylæ," all of which is another evidence of the peaceful and fraternal temper of the South

The Tribune, as a Democratic newspaper, is not a success It has not the ability of the World, or the enterprise of the Herald, and as an imitator of Brick Pomeroy it is quite feeble.

The New York Tribune is discussing the important question whether the battle of Belmont was a defeat or a victory. When the Tribune was a Republican newspaper, Belmont was a victory, but now that it has become a Confederate organ, it is, of course, to be received in the light of a defeat. It might also add, as a proof that Grant is unworthy of Democratic support, that he defeated "us" at Fort Donelson, Shiloh, Vicksburg and Appomattox.

THE CAMPAIGN.

[Special dispatch to the Whig & Courier.]

SPEAKER BLAINE IN CALAIS—ENTHUSIASTIC OVATION—THE GREATEST MEETING OF THE CAMPAIGN IN CALAIS—AN ADMIRABLE SPEECH.

CALAIS, Sept. 4.

The Republican party of Calais witnessed to-day its greatest triumph of the campaign. The political enthusiasm which has been for weeks ebbing and flowing on the eastern frontier reached its highest point and manifested itself in a spontaneous effort to do honor to Maine's distinguished Representative in Congress, Hon. James G. Blaine, who was announced to speak here this evening.—On the arrival of the Speaker at 4 P. M., he was met at the depot in St. Stephen, N. B., by a band and an immense turnout of carriages, and a procession having been formed he was escorted to his hotel in this city.

The people of Calais made their greatest demonstration of the campaign and moreover it was accomplished with but brief and irregular notice. The Speaker has reason to be proud of his reception on the occasion of his first visit to Calais, while its citizens will long remember the impression which his visit produced. His address at St. Croix Hall this evening was delivered before a crowded audience, and hundreds went away who were unable to obtain seats or even standing room. His speech, composed of new points, was clear, logical and inimitable, and was listened to throughout with rapt attention.

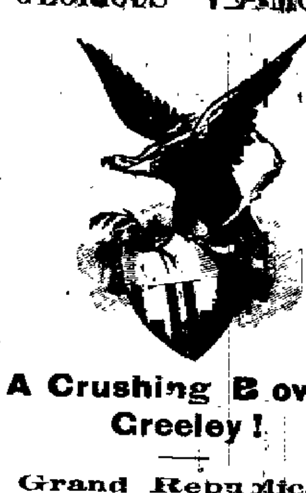
GLORIOUS VERMONT!



A Crushing Blow to Greeley!

Grand Republican Majority!

GAINS REPORTED EVERYWHERE.

SENATE UNANIMOUSLY REPUBLICAN!

Maine Speaks Next!

THE "WORLD" ESTIMATES REPUBLICAN GAINS—SCATTERING RETURNS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4. The World's special from White River Junction, Vt., estimates the Republican majority of the State at 22,000 or 23,000.

The Times' Burlington special gives the following votes of towns:

	Converse.	Gardner.
Burlington,	895	720
Montpelier,	435	265
East Montpelier.	155	47
Bennington,	549	300

GAINS.

RUTLAND, Sept. 4. Rutland county, in 14 towns heard from, gives 1911 majority for Converse. The balance of the county will increase the majority over the Republican majority of 1870.

THE SENATE UNANIMOUSLY REPUBLICAN—THE HOUSE 10 TO 1.

MONTPELIER, Vt., Sept. 4. Sufficient returns have been received to indicate that the Senate will be unanimously Republican, while the House of Representatives will be 10 to 1 Republican.

MAJORITY NOT LESS THAN 25,000.

Returns from over 100 towns show that the combined opposition to the Republicans will be in a smaller minority than in 1870. Returns from 100 towns give Converse a majority over Gardner larger by 1500 than Stewart had over Heaton in 1870. The towns to be heard from will probably give a larger increase to the Republican majority than those already received, and the total majority in the State will not be less than 25,000.

BOSTON, Sept. 4. Some additional returns from Vermont confirm previous indications that the Republican majority will reach about 25,000.

MAJORITY GROWING.

BURLINGTON, Vt., Sept. 4. Returns from 169 towns give the following figures: Converse, (Rep.) 33,841; Gardner, (Dem.) 15,449. The Republican majority this year will be about 26,000.

The Straight-Outs!

O'Conor and Adams!

THE STRAIGHTS MEAN BUSINESS!

WAR TO THE KNIFE ON GREELEY!

THE NEW YORK "SPECIALS."

NEW YORK, Sept. 4. The Times' Louisville special says that the committee on resolutions have decided to make O'Conor's letter the platform, and to recommend his nomination by acclamation.

The Herald's special says that Kitch of Indiana is working hard for the nomination of O'Conor, who cannot be induced to stand. Considerable distrust is expressed of the Labor Reform Delegates, who are thought to be Greeleyites in disguise.

O'CONOR'S POSITION—LETTER FROM ADAMS.

The Sun's special thinks that O'Conor will, in the end, accept; and says that Col. Duncan has received the following private letter:

My Dear Sir—I coincide with the people of the Louisville Convention; and in answer to your very complimentary letter, will say that I will accept the nomination for Vice President on your ticket. Very respectfully yours,

(Signed) JOHN QUINCY ADAMS.

BOUND TO HOLD O'CONOR.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 4. The morning is fine, and the Convention quite full. It is generally understood that O'Conor's nomination is determined upon, with his own letter and record as the only platform of principles. Members say they are holding him bound to permit the use of his name to give practical force to their protest against the Baltimore coalition.

CALLED TO ORDER.

The Convention was called to order at 10.15 o'clock, and the chair announced that the Committee on Credentials had been unable, as yet, to complete their list of delegates, but would report it during the day. Mr. Duncan called attention to the fact that a rope had been stretched across the hall, and requested all persons not delegates to retire beyond it. The President adjourned. On motion, it was resolved that two sergeants at arms be appointed; and the President named them.

TRAIN SQUELCHED.

After a debate on appointing a National Executive Committee, during which George Francis Train was informed that he was not a delegate, and not entitled to speak

THE PLATFORM—O'CONOR DEMANDED AS A CANDIDATE.

Mr. Davidson, of Ill., from the Committee on platform reported resolutions concurring with the principles enumerated in the letter of O'Conor, admiring his delicacy in not seeking the nomination, but holding him bound to hold his part in the pending conflict, and nominating him candidate for the Presidency. There was here, every delegate rising and cheering wildly and waving handkerchiefs; there was also music by the band, followed by repeated cheers for O'Conor.

O'CONOR NOMINATED.

On motion of a delegate, O'Conor was nominated by acclamation, amid a scene of wild enthusiasm, the delegates rising in a body, cheering and waiving their hats.

BALLOT BY STATES.

Mr. Duncan moved to reconsider the vote by acclamation, and ballot by States to show the country the unanimous voice of the Convention. On the roll call of States, Alabama, Arkansas, California, Delaware, Georgia, Indiana, Iowa, Illinois, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Louisiana, Missouri, Mississippi, Michigan, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, North Carolina, New York, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, West Virginia and Wisconsin, voted solid for O'Conor amid great cheering. Ohio stood 36 for O'Conor to 4 for Pendleton, and some confusion was created by the assertion that this was a Greeley diversion. The Chairman announced the vote: For O'Conor, 600; for Pendleton, 4.

O'CONOR NOTIFIED.

The President here read his proposed telegram to Mr. O'Conor: "This convention has unanimously and with great enthusiasm nominated you as candidate for the Presidency on the basis of your letter, and holds you bound by it."

DECLARING PRINCIPLES.

The remainder of the report of the committee on the platform was read, declaring as their principles that the government is based on the consent of the governed—that all such powers—State or Federal are restricted to be exercised in strict accordance with the constitution, that the interests of labor and capital should not conflict, but should harmonize, and labor as the parent of wealth is paramount. That principle is to be preferred to power. That the Democratic party will never surrender principles for patronage and place. That having been outraged at Baltimore, we repudiate both its platform and candidates. Gen. Clark of Michigan moved an amendment adding a resolution favoring a constitutional amendment for the election of President and Vice-President by the direct vote of the people, which was tabled. The report of the platform committee was then adopted unanimously. (Applause.)

ADAMS FOR VICE-PRESIDENT.

On a motion for a choice for Vice-President the names of John Quincy Adams of Mass., L. P. Edgerton of Ind., General Hancock, J. J. Davis of West Virginia, and others were proposed. Mr. Duncan announced a letter from Hancock declining, as he is out of politics. After considerable discussion and several ballots, Adams had 598 to Edgerton's 66. Edgerton's name was withdrawn, and Adams nominated by acclamation. Blanton Duncan then read a letter from Adams promising to support O'Conor as the nominee of the straight-outs, and to stand himself if chosen.

TELEGRAM FROM O'CONOR—IMPRESSION THAT HE WILL STAND.

A telegram from Charles O'Conor, in reply to the notification of his nomination, urges the selection of some one else, and leave him to private life. At the same time he declares his unalterable fidelity to and sympathy with the Louisville movement. As he fails to say in terms that he will not accept, it is construed as an indication that he will accept if the Convention still insists.

FLAG RAISING AT AMHERST. Mr. Editor: On Tuesday evening the Republicans of Amherst raised a beautiful Grant and Wilson flag over the road in front of the Post Office amid cheers from the crowd and a salute of guns, after which they adjourned to the Town Hall where they were addressed on the political issues of the day by Geo. Cutler, Esq., of Medway and Hon. T. W. Vose, of Bangor. The hall was crowded to its utmost capacity, and great enthusiasm and interest was manifested. The intelligent voters of Amherst and vicinity are not to be deceived by the cry of "Reform," when made by men, who, that yesterday, sold themselves for the promise of a mess of potage, which the purchasers will not be able to give. NOT THEY.

SOCIABLE AT WINTERPORT. Mr. Editor: The ladies connected with the Congregational church at Winterport, held a very pleasant sociable meeting in the chapel, on Tuesday evening, which was well attended. During the meeting, a number of choice selections of music were rendered by Mr. Silsby, and Mrs. Tufts, of Charlestown, Mass. It is hoped that the funds received from the entertainment will be sufficient to defray expenses incurred by the church in repairing their chapel. W.

Father Hyacinthe has married, and has written a letter to a Paris paper justifying the act. This shows that there is a wide separation between him and the Catholic church—a bloody chasm over which there is likely to be no friendly clasping of hands.

"Whatever chastisement may be deserved by our national sins, we must hope that this disgrace and humiliation [of having the democracy restored to power] will be spared us."—HORACE GREELEY.

"The feeling for Mr. Torrens [at the preliminary meeting Monday evening] was very strong, all the gentlemen present agreeing that the warmest gratitude was due to him for having brought to St. John the brightest ornaments of the lyric stage."

DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS.

The Democratic caucus for the nomination of three candidates for Representatives to the Legislature from this city, was held in City Hall last evening, and was called to order at half-past 7 o'clock by James F. Rawson, Esq. who nominated D. M. Howard, Esq., as chairman. The organization was completed by the choice of Josiah C. Mitchell, Esq., as secretary.

Gen. Gorham L. Boynton moved and it was carried to nominate the candidates separately, after which on motion of Gen. C. W. Roberts, Messrs. Roberts, E. B. Patten and Geo. W. Ladd were appointed a committee to receive, sort and count votes for the first candidate. Maj. Hastings Strickland said he understood that it was conceded on all sides that the "Liberal Republicans" should have one of the candidates, and he therefore nominated J. O'B. Darling as the man on whom they had settled. Gen. Boynton said he had seen no ballots prepared for Mr. Darling, and he moved that he be nominated by acclamation. The motion was carried, and at the call of Dr. Jordan three rather uncertain and weak cheers were given for the nominee. On motion of J. F. Rawson, Messrs. John S. Ricker, James F. Rawson, Wm. Mannigan, Isaac W. Patten, John Varney, Lemuel Nash and C. W. Roberts were appointed a committee to nominate City Committee for the ensuing year. The committee, having attended to their duty reported the following list:

Ward 1—James Tobin.
" 2—F. A. Cummings.
" 3—N. L. Perkins.
" 4—James Morrow.
" 5—D. M. Howard.
" 6—Levi Murch.
" 7—C. C. Prescott.

On motion of Maj. Strickland the report was accepted and the nominations confirmed.

Gen. Boynton nominated Maj. Strickland for the second candidate for Representative, and John Varney who said he spoke in behalf of a large and respectable number of voters present, and nominated Wm. T. Pearson. A scene of confusion ensued, the advocates of each person named above, shouted the names of their candidates, while the rush and jam in front of the stand was something fearful. It was voted to close the polls, but many objected and a crowd was rushed up and deposited their votes on the table where the committee were counting those previously deposited. Mr. Patten of the committee objected, saying that half of them had voted before. This created some stir, and still more was raised when Mr. Patten turned up on the floor a vote which had been placed in his hat, saying he knew the man who cast it had voted previously. The "repeater" shouted "I tell you not! If you don't let me vote I'll disturb you!" He was squelched, however, and the committee reported the result of the ballot as follows:

Whole number of votes,	323
Necessary to a choice,	162
Hastings Strickland,	182
Wm. T. Pearson,	141

and Hastings Strickland was declared nominated. The nomination was received with cheers and made unanimous.

James Morrow and F. M. Laughton were each proposed by their friends as candidates for the third nomination, and the caucus proceeded to a ballot, with the following result:

Whole number of votes,	274
Necessary for a choice,	138
F. M. Laughton had	206
James Morrow,	67

and Mr. Laughton was declared nominated.

The nomination was subsequently made unanimous, and Gen. Boynton in response to numerous calls made a speech in which he assured the meeting that he should vote for Greeley, though he was not at first in favor of his nomination. He charged that the assistant assessors had acted as Republican canvassers, and besides dropping names from the voting lists, had added others which were not on the books. He therefore urged each voter to satisfy himself personally, that his name was on the lists.

Col. J. Frank Godfrey was called for, and said he left the Republican party because he wanted to, because he thought it had not at heart the true interests of the country, and not because he wanted office. He believed the Democratic-Liberal-Republican party would sweep the city next Monday. The Republicans had their Grant clubs and torch-bearers, but when Lyman Trumbull was here the other night they saw a procession such as they never saw before. This, he believed, was a true index of the popular feeling. After paying his respects to Hamlin, Post-master General Creswell, Speaker Blaine and other Republicans who have spoken here, and whom he charged with using no arguments but denunciation, a sheep-thief, who upon being tried was acquitted by the jury "because he fought well at Stony Point."

The caucus then adjourned with cheers for Greeley and Brown.

THE IRISH ORATORS.

A LARGE MEETING IN DALE PARK—AN ATTENTIVE AND RESPECTFUL AUDIENCE—MANY IRISH CITIZENS PRESENT—ELOQUENT ADDRESSES AND MUCH ENTHUSIASM—DISGRACEFUL PERFORMANCE OF SOME ILL-BRED YOUNG MEN.

The meeting in Dale Park last evening, which was announced yesterday morning for the first time, was in point of numbers and in attention and enthusiasm a brilliant success.

The Emmett Band played several fine pieces of music, and when the two speakers of the evening came upon the stand, Mr. E. K. Small called the meeting to order and nominated Patrick Golden, Esq., as chairman. Mr. Golden came forward and in a few words introduced General F. F. Millen of New York, who began his eloquent speech by stating that he appeared before them under embarrassing circumstances, but that his name was not unknown among those who were identified with the great Fenian movement which had for its object the freedom of Ireland. This was the proof of his identification as an Irishman. Taking up first the reasons why his fellow-countrymen should change their views with regard to their allegiance to the Democratic party, by clear and logical proofs he showed that the difference between the two parties is that the Democratic party is the retrograde party, and that the progressive party is represented by the Republicans of the country. It was the Democratic party that established the slaveholding aristocracy of the South, and was always pro-slavery. Taking up now the facts which led so many of his countrymen to come to the United States, he showed that the blessings which they here enjoy are perpetuated and held sacred by the Republican party. He mentioned the seven hundred years that Irishmen have struggled for their own liberties with England, and that even now they have to come to America to escape the despotism which a foreign nation imposes on Ireland. Their gratitude for the liberties they enjoy was shown during the war, when they became co-workers with the American people in defense of those liberties, and that the Irish people ought not now, coming from their own country to escape servitude, unite with a party retrograde in its movement, and one, which would by its principles tend to keep them down. The principle of Free Trade, which is among those which the Democrats profess to hold, if carried out would bring the value of their own labor down to a mere pittance by bringing the pauper labor of England in competition with their own.—It should be remembered by Irishmen that the Democratic party by coming into power will do this. But by the protective tariff principle of the Republican party all this is prevented and the workingman is enabled to live in a country where the influx of capital and immigration helps them in living under a free government. Another instance wherein the Democratic party showed itself opposed to the workingmen was when, under Buchanan, the homestead bill was vetoed.—The bill was afterwards passed under Lincoln and the Republican party, and is now a law.

Passing on from this point, the speaker stated the reasons why Horace Greeley is unfit to be placed in power, showing his inconsistencies, in politics, in the most gentlemanly but undeniable terms; and that he was incited to this, his last step, by an ambition which never could bring about the best interests of the country.

Taking up next, in contrast, the character of General Grant, by the most conclusive and logical arguments he proved that he had risen from obscurity by his own powers, and that at all times he had held sacred the best interests of the country, entirely uninfluenced by ambition. The policy of President Grant in managing the finances of the country was shown to be productive of the best results to the people, and his course with reference to the San Domingo treaty was shown to be such as duty and the interests of the country demanded. The charges of nepotism, military rings etc., were never better met and refuted than they were by General Millen.

In concluding he called on his Irish fellow-citizens to think for themselves in the present campaign, and to remember that it is under the Republican party that they, as naturalized citizens of the United States, have been and are protected in foreign countries. However they may think, and whichever way they may vote, he appealed to them to consider carefully which party it is that they owe the most to, and then to act for themselves.

When he had concluded, the Chairman proposed three cheers for General Millen, which were given with a will. The Band then played Hail Columbia, after which Capt. Augustine E. Costello was introduced.

This eloquent speaker began by alluding to his imprisonment by England for being connected with the Fenian movement, and his release, brought about by the Republican administration with General Grant at its head. As an American naturalized citizen now came before his countrymen, who could point to their efforts on American battle fields with pride, to discuss political questions which had been brought before the people for their approval or disapproval. He showed how, in New York, men of Irish descent had been taken from the lowest degredation and put forward as representatives of the Irish people by the infamous Tammany Ring. These, he said, were not the men whom Irishmen would acknowledge as their leaders, but would instead repudiate them. In most eloquent and forcible terms he showed how our Irish citizens have been led astray by the Democratic party, and that their interests were in no way allied with it. The question of free trade was taken up by beginning with as it affected Ireland at the time England practically closed her ports against Irish manufactures and forced them to eke out a scant subsistence by tilling the soil. Then passing on to the question as it stands between the United States and England, he showed by the most conclusive arguments that when our country has [illegible] her pauper labor in competition with the labor of a comparatively [illegible] free trade would be a ruin to workingmen, [illegible] them nearly to starvation. The interests of workingmen are such that they cannot without injury hold allegience to a party which advocates free trade. The Democratic party would keep the Irish citizens in degredation, for by their very principles they are opposed to progress. Irishmen should remember that if the Republican party had ever appeared to stand aloof from them, they themselves had stood aloof from it. In conclusion he showed that it is for the true interests of the Irish people to stand by the man who does not inconsistently change from one hobby to another, rather than remain with a party that has surrendered all its principles.

Three ringing cheers were given for the eloquent Irish orator whose able speech had been listened to so attentively by his audience.

The Band then played "St. Patrick's Day," after which, as these gentlemen were being introduced to the many friends who crowded on to the stand to greet them, some rowdy bawled out, "You can't buy Irishmen that way." Never did Irish eloquence administer a more scathing rebuke than Capt. Costello bestowed upon the man.

The meeting, which was marked by the greatest enthusiasm and attention from the Irish people, was, we regret to say, occasionally disturbed by the maudlin shouts of some American Democrats.

A procession was formed, and headed by the Band the speakers, seated in a barouche, with his Honor Mayor Wheelwright, General Chas. Hamlin, Capt. E. E. Small and Mr. Golden, chairman of the meeting, were escorted to the Bangor House, where a halt was made and three rousing cheers given for General Millen and Capt. Costello.

Gen. Hamlin was called for and spoke briefly in praise of the Irish soldiers who did such good service in the war and of the speakers who had so eloquently addressed the people. During his remarks a rabble of Americans, (Irishmen had too much self-respect to insult their own countrymen) headed by W. R. Pitman "the promising young journalist" of the Commercial's staff, and Fred. Foster, with others of that kidney, indulged in low rowdyism, and proposed cheers for Greeley. But not content with this, when Capt. Costello was called for and stepped on the seat of the barouche to respond, these model young men led in shouting the "Chappaqua Farmer" in order to insult and interrupt him. After they had bawled out several verses the band began playing and they stopped. As soon as Mr. Costello began in a few words to thank his friends standing around the carriage, these same rowdies began to hurrah for Horace Greeley. After Capt. Costello had concluded his remarks, the disorderly crowd, headed by Pitman and Foster, marched down under the Greeley flag, and continued their howl for some time. They then marched by our office followed by Major Hastings Strickland, the Democratic candidate for the Legislature, and others. May it not be fairly asked: Who incites these disgraceful disturbances?

BUSINESS ITEMS.

MANY Uterine affections depress the mental faculties as well as undermine the constitution generally. This can be prevented by taking an occasional dose of SMOLANDER'S BUCHU, which is also administered with the happiest results for kidney, bladder, and glandular diseases, diabetes, gravel, errors of youth, female complaints, incontinence and retention of urine, and maladies of the urino-genital organs.

If the appetite has failed, it is restored; if digestion is painful and imperfect, it becomes easy and natural; if the liver is inactive it is regulated; if the nervous system is debilitated, it is strengthened by the use of Atwood's Quinine Tonic Bitters. Sold by all druggists.

Diseases such as Consumption, Bronchitis Debility from Typhoid and other Low Fevers, from excessive grief, study, or close confinement, and prostration of the vital powers, yield to Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites soon than any remedy ever before discovered.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—They revive the appetite, promote digestion, sustain the vital powers, relieve all pain and uneasiness in the stomach and bowels, strengthen the constitution as well as expel disease. Sold 78 Maiden Lane, N. Y. Price 25 cents per box. Ask for new style; the old is counterfeited.

THE HORSE AND HIS RIDER.—It was a happy day for horse and his rider when the MUSTANG LINIMENT was introduced as a cure for the external diseases and injuries of both. In the stable, the barn and the household this wonderful emollient is equally useful. If a horse is spavined, or foundered, or harness-galled, or afflicted with any other of the many superficial ills that equine flesh is heir to, the Liniment effects a speedy cure, and it is equally efficacious when applied to draught oxen or cows suffering from outward swellings, strains, or hurts of any description. As an application for bruises, cuts, burns, rheumatism, stiff joints, sprains, neuralgia, earache and toothache, it takes precedence for all other topical remedies, and is therfore an artical of prime necessity in families.

Consumption can be Cured.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,
SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC,
SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS,

Are the only medicines that will cure Pulmonary Consumption.

Sometimes medicines that will stop a cough will often occasion the death of the patient. It locks up the liver, stops the circulation of the blood, hemorrhage follows, and, in fact, clogging the action of the very organs that caused the cough.

Liver complaint and dyspepsia are the causes of two thirds of the cases of consumption. Many are now complaining with dull pain in the side, the bowels sometimes costive and sometimes too loose, tongue coated, pain in the shoulder blade, feeling sometimes very restless, and at other times drowsy; the food that is taken lies heavily on the stomach, accompanied with acidity and belching of wind. These symptoms usually originate from a disordered condition of the stomach or a torpid liver. Persons so affected, if they take one or two heavy colds, and if the cough in these cases be suddenly stopped, the lungs, liver and stomach clog, and remain torpid and inactive, and before the patient is aware of his situation, the lungs are a mass of sores, and ulcerated, and death is the inevitable result.

Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup is an expectorant which does not contain any opium, nor anything calculated to check a cough suddenly.

Schenck's Seaweed tonic dissolves the food, mixes with the gastric juice of the stomach, digests easily, nourishes the system, and creates a healthy circulation of the blood. When the bowels are costive, skin sallow, and the patient is of a bilious habit, Schenck's Mandrake Pills are required.

These medicines are prepared by Dr. J. H. SCHENCK & SON, Northeast corner of Sixth and Arch streets, Philadelphia, Penn., and for sale by GEO. C. GOODWIN & CO., Hanover street, Boston, & JOHN F. HENRY, 8 College place, New York, Wholesale Agents.

For sale by Druggists generally.

Seek the noble, shun the ill,
Do a good deed that you can,
Use what power it you will—
Upward, onward leave yourself a man—
Seek the light!

What though born of low degree?
Look for the God within each comdeman;
One was born in poverty—
Manger born in Bethlehem—
Seek the light!

God has given you the might
To arise and show your power,
Fight the wrong, espouse the right,
And wear Duskiest dark clouds lower
Seek the light!

Be content to not remain
Bound in chains of ignorance,
Such contentment is in vain
Let your motto be "Advance!"—
Seek the light!

Only thus will full success
Who man Sat in Virtue's cause;
Who defiances all wickedness,
And all false true manhood's laws—
Seek the light

Lead your neighbor, if you find

Teach him wisdom clearer his mind
Guide him out into the day—
Seek the light

Do the very best you can
Live not for yourself alone,
If you live for yourself a man!
And you'll see when Heaven done
Heaven a light!

UNCLE GEOFFREY'S TALL COPY OF THE FENCE

A STORY OF MAGGO'S NOSE

[Concluded.]

I declined the advice for several reasons. I was fond of Uncle Geoffrey and would rather suffer myself than to put him to pain, which I should have done by leaving him. Besides I knew that George's promise to do what he could to help me was a very poor reed to rely upon. In our boyish days I had always spent my pocket money before I got it, while George always contrived to lay by out of his. But he was put to be a sailor, upon which he and my self in my first need. His always required it for some special purpose, for some luxurious but of self gratification. Finally, I had a suspicion—which I was almost ashamed to own—that George's advice was not entirely disinterested. If I had a quarrel with my uncle who but George would profit by it, in the sole and undivided inheritance of our uncle's property?

When but a year and a half of my probation had passed, and while I was away at Gilstone, my uncle died. His end appeared to have been peaceful, for he was found lying seemingly asleep in his bed. I need hardly say I returned at once to find George had promptly installed himself as master of Gilsdale. I announced, though it seemed to me a somewhat too ready assumption of authority.

When, after the funeral, we came to examine the will, we found our uncle's eccentricity fully displayed. It left its provisions were very strange that I was advised by more than one solicitor to contest it. But that was far from my wish or intention, although I was surprised to find that my uncle had practically broken his word with me. His will handed over every thing to George having him, with regard to my share under the will, the option between giving me an estate some miles from Gilsdale, worth about five or six hundred a year and presenting me with my uncle's tall copy of Terence.

George laughed heartily at this clause when it was read. "Good old Terence" I had always preferred the classics to mathematics, and he was sure Uncle Geoffrey meant it specially for me. For he had had it rebound not a year before his death.

But George did not laugh so loudly when the lawyer came to the final clause in the will which provided that in the case of George's marrying and dying by the name of Penelope he was to forfeit the property which would then pass over to me.

George vowed that if he had not made up his mind about the Terence before, he had now for he was sure I had betrayed his secret to my uncle. I disdained to reply, for to avow my innocence might look like an attempt to make him change his mind about the tall copy of Terence. But I hastened before I left the house that the steward of the yacht who was a confidential servant of my uncle's had told him all about our doings at Gilstone.

I did not stay at Gilsdale a moment longer than was necessary to pack up my clothes and other belongings. I had my last quarter's allowance untouched for I had been away when it fell due and my uncle had given it to old Mrs Marchow the housekeeper to take care of for me.

It was not a large sum but it was enough to exist upon for a while until I could look about me and find some employment.

I had half determined not to accept the Terence, but on second thoughts I made up my mind to take it as a memento of Uncle Geoffrey. Then I could not help having a despite of his ingustice to me. So I put it at the bottom of my box and turned my back, as I thought, for the last time on the place that had been for so many years my home.

You will very likely be able to guess what I did next myself. One place was as good as another to make on my fortunes in, but at Gilstone I should at least find consolation and sympathy, and accordingly to Gilstone I bent my steps. It was the height of the sea season. Lodgings and lodgings were scarce and dear, but I was fortunate enough to get a small and comfortable room in the cottage of a coast guardsman situated about a mile out of the town.

Alas, as might have been expected I forgot in the pleasure of the present the necessity of planning for future days and weeks spent away and were spent in wandering and waiting to catch a passing glimpse of—oh, happiness—a short interview with Lucy.

In the meantime a terrible storm had burst in the Powsby family. George wrote to Penelope, and told her about the final clause of the will. It would be useless, he urged, to persist in their engagement. To marry her heiress she would not wish to wed a beggar. When Penelope showed the letter to Lucy, she at once declared that I should never dream of taking any advantage of such a cause to injure one of the estates, but Penelope was warm of the world and she pointed out that considering the shabby way in which George had behaved to me I should be justified in taking any steps to avenge myself. Human beings were fallible and uncertain, she said, and though a slight promise not to do so, when the marriage had actually taken place, the temptation might be too strong.

Old Powsby was simply furious. Without waiting to consult his daughter, he at once instructed his solicitors to commence an action for breach of promise.

This startled George and brought him round in the yacht to try and compromise matters. It was some time before old Powsby would consent to see him and then only at the urgent entreaty of Penelope, who was anxious to avoid the publicity of an action at law.

By this time the contents of my purse had reached a point of tenuity, which woke me from my dreaming. I must be stirring if I would not starve. I said Lucy and in the course of the conversation I said, half jestingly that at all rate before I starved I could sell that tall copy of Terence. Lucy laughingly expressed a wish to see this interesting volume, so I promised to bring it over the next day. Accordingly, when leaving my lodging the following morning, I put the parchment bound book under my arm, and, as the tide was going out, descended the cliff, intending to walk along the sands.

It was a splendid fresh morning, and I strolled along gently keeping close to the tide line turning over with my stick the odds and ends which the waves left behind them, and sending the sand hoppers flying before me in clouds.

All at once I heard a cry that did not seem to be the cry of the sea bird. I looked round and a little further up the beach I saw a heap of clothes lying. At once saw the situation. Somebody had been tempted to bathe by the fineness of the day and the seclusion of the little bay. He had been warned of the danger of so doing by my coastguard landlord only two days before. A strong current swept in to the bay, shot out round Maggo's Nose, a point a mile south of the bay, and even the best swimmers, if caught in this current, would have enough to do to save themselves. All this flashed across my mind in an instant while I was flying out seaward. As I re-cry came again, more feebly, I strained my sight in the direction whence it seemed to proceed, and could discern a figure floating out to sea. There was not a moment to lose. I kicked off my boots, flung off coat and waistcoat, and threw the latter over on the top of them, rushed into the water. The shock shocked rapidly and into few minutes I found myself swept off my feet by the current and began to strike out in the direction of the bather. I was an excellent swimmer, and had only light flannels on, so my clothes did not much impede my progress.

As I rushed into the water I had given a long, loud shout to send it forward to encourage the drowning man, for his cries seemed stronger. I last that if the current was no fiercer, and if the presence of mind enough to obey my directions, I could save him.

Imagine my surprise on nearing him to see that it was George! I am glad to think that I felt nothing but surprise—not for one second did I feel any hesitation. I called to him to lie on his back—I knew that he was no swimmer but could float which is easy enough in salt water. Then I swam up to him and began to push him before me toward shore.

The task proved more difficult than I had calculated. I could make little headway across the current, and our only hope of safety lay in working diagonally nearer and nearer shore as it carried us to the Nose. If we were once borne beyond that we were lost, for the open sea lay before us. At length by slow degrees I edged him closer and closer to land, and felt the force of the current diminish. Finally we got into comparatively still water under the lee of the point, and I managed to get George on shore. He fainted away as soon as we reached dry land, and I stooped over him to try and bring him to. A sudden giddiness seized me—a black cloud came before my eyes—and I sank insensible by his side. I don't know how long we lay in this state, but I awoke at last to find a couple of coastguardmen rubbing our hands and feet, and endeavoring to restore animation by the best means in their power. As soon as we were a little better, one of them ran up to the station to bring us dry clothes and a little rum. In about an hour's time we were able to get up the cliff, and were driven home in a cart that it at these good fellows had borrowed of a neighboring farmer.

We were both of us too much exhausted to talk much but George pressed my hand when I got out of our conveyance at my lodging, leaving him to go on to the hotel at which he stayed when on shore.

Neither of us left his bed for a couple of days. As soon as I got home I had sent down to the beach to recover my clothes and book but was too late. The tide had turned, and they were carried off, and George's were in imminent danger of the same fate, for the waves were already besprinkling them with spray when my messenger reached the place.

My coastguardsman passed the world to his mates—our rescuers—at the Nose, where he said the things were pretty certain to be washed ashore. On the second day his prediction proved true, the coat, waistcoat and book having been picked up along the sands. The boots were irretrievably gone, and I need hardly say the contents of my waistcoat pockets had been tumbled out. As for the book it was in a most dilapidated state its covers were warped, and in several places the parchment had become detached from the millboard. When I met Lucy the next day I showed it her, with the fruitful remark that its value was considerably diminished—She examined it with the truly feminine desire of seeing if it could not be repaired. Suddenly she gave a cry of surprise, and drew out a folded parchment from the inside of the covers.

To make a long story short, it was a codicil to my uncle's will. It revoked all the previous dispositions and settled everything on me. A further examination of the cover brought to light a letter addressed to me with an open memorandum enclosed for George.

The latter to me said that if I took care of the book he had little doubt I should some time or other discover its contents. If I sold it I should loose—and deserve to lose—all. To George he may uncle's note pointed out that if he had given me the estate instead of the book the codicil would have remained undiscovered on the shelves at Gilsdale. He wrote the old gentleman with a touch of sarcasm "you are not likely to care for the contents of Terence while you have a bank book to study."

As we had finished reading George came up. He began to express his remorse for the way in which he had treated me, when I put the codicil and letters into his hands. He turned pale and sank on the sofa. "It serves me right," said he, "it deprives me of the power of doing what I wished—making some reparation for the wrong I did you."

"Not another word, George," said I, taking his hand, "we'll divide it equally between us." And so we did, and George married Penelope and I married Lucy, and we are as happy as the days are long, for George has been a different man since the day when we were so nearly drowned off Mago's Nose.—[From London Society.
